

1 SUSAN MAE POLK,
2 Petitioner,

3 v.

4 KIMBERLY HUGHES, et al.,
5 Respondents.

6 Case No. 12-cv-05986-VC

7 ORDER RETURNING RECEIVED
8 DOCUMENTS TO PLAINTIFF

9
10 Petitioner Susan Mae Polk, a state prisoner incarcerated at the California Institute for 11 Women, filed a pro se petition for a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 asserting 12 numerous claims for relief. Respondent filed a motion to dismiss, which is now fully briefed and 13 ready for the Court's review. Polk has now submitted several documents.

14 In its September 4, 2014 Order Striking "Amended" Documents, the Court instructed the 15 Clerk of the Court to receive, but not to file, any documents Polk submits that are labelled 16 "amendments." The Clerk did not file Polk's newly submitted documents. The Court has 17 reviewed these documents and they are piecemeal filings unrelated to the motion to dismiss. They 18 appear to be related to the merits of her petition. As stated in its previous order, "the Court cannot 19 be expected to keep track of Polk's lengthy and piecemeal filings." Therefore, the Clerk is 20 directed to return these documents to Polk with this Order. After the Court rules on the motion to 21 dismiss and it is denied and, if Polk feels it is necessary and prudent to re-file these documents,
22 she may do so at that time.

23 IT IS SO ORDERED.
